

The ELCA Internationalization project - we're on ResearchGate!

ResearchGate is the professional network for scientists and researchers. Their mission is to connect the world of science and make scientific research available to everyone. Over 20 million members from all over the world use it to share, discover, and discuss research. On the ResearchGate project profile you will find the latest information on the tasks performed, reports and news related to lightweight topics.

You can find the project profile on ResearchGate at this link.

ELCA – European Lightweight Cluster Alliance – is a 2-year project funded under the “COSME” programme. The aim of the project is to prepare an international marketing strategy by a consortium created by five European industry clusters, establish cooperation between member companies of all clusters, prepare a joint offer and establish contacts with automotive, aero&aeronautics, railway and maritime concerns and also to promote European solutions in the field of light structures in transport, which aims at the reduction of CO2 emission and increase recycling, and thus fits into the concept of the circular economy.
